

How to Make Event Tracking Part of Your Release Process

Event tracking is a foundational part of whatever you're building, not an afterthought.

Best Practices 📅 December 12, 2022

Georgia Iacovou
Iteratively

Editor's note: this article was originally published on the Iteratively blog on March 15, 2021.

When building new features or products, it's very common to leave analytics to the last minute—or even to forget about them entirely. This scenario may look familiar to you:

PM works on a release

Release happens

CEO asks the PM how it's performing

PM: Let me ask the data team